Luer Lock Syringes

Our Luer Lock syringes are made with the best quality, most durable and safest materials. They are ideal for general use and for administering medications in a variety of settings. Not only do these syringes provide a secure connection between the injection needle and syringe, but they help prevent the needle from being detached inadvertently. These syringes also feature a plunger with slide characteristics as well as a transparent barrel with clear graduations allowing exact dosing of fluids. Large stable finger grips ensures ease of use and a double seal stopper help to prevent medication leakage.
